EMPOWERING WARRIORS TO FIND PURPOSE & RESILIENT

Individualized care is provided through three main delivery methods:

CLINICS
RETREATS TRAINING

The Be Resilient Program is a transformational journey grounded in a whole-person approach to healing. Built on four integrated pillars—psychological, physical, spiritual, and social wellness—our program is designed specifically for active-duty service members and veterans.

This intradisciplinary model brings together top-tier professionals across all domains to address both the visible and invisible wounds of service, including PTSD, concussions, moral injury, insomnia, chronic pain, and related conditions that often lead to isolation and disconnection.

We believe true healing requires more than short-term intervention. Our approach is personalized, comprehensive, and focused on building lifelong resilience—rooted in the urgent and complex needs of warriors who have experienced the unfathomable.

The battle doesn't end when the uniform comes off. Healing demands unity, strategy, and a sustained commitment to whole-health care. The Be Resilient Program is where hope takes root—and lives are changed.

SOF Missions combats the suicide epidemic by providing restorative whole health medical care to veterans and military service members. The SOF Missions' Be Resilient Clinics are 1-week medical intensives that bring together 12 veterans and approx. 20 healthcare providers in an intradisciplinary approach with a focus on psychological, physical, social, and spiritual treatments. Providers assess, treat, and work to overcome challenges of military service such as PTSD, mild traumatic brain injury, chronic/acute pain, sleep issues, isolation, stress, and moral injury. After the clinic, veterans receive follow on care for up to a year, with scheduled check-ups with our medical team. This care is provided at no cost to the veteran.
